

Choices

Every funeral is for an individual and we think, where possible and when it meets the family wishes, each funeral should reflect that person's individuality.

Some prefer a more traditional funeral, while others may wish to celebrate a life that has been more extroverted.

There are a variety of ways of tailoring a funeral so that it is a true reflection of a person's life. It is often a choice of music, a video or photo compilation and sometimes the style of vehicle used as a hearse.

As an example of the many options we provide for our client families, Gippsland Funeral Services provide a choice of Hearses, either modern Ford silver hearses or a classic Burgundy coloured 1968 Pontiac.

When originally converted to a hearse in Sydney in 1969, the Pontiac with its 3'6" extension was the longest hearse in Australia. Scott Rossetti found the hearse still in service in Lithgow NSW and negotiated to bring it back to Gippsland in 2000. After two years of intense restoration at Longford Body Works, the Pontiac is used regularly as a hearse of choice for many of our client families.

We are also open to ideas about how other special family or personal vehicles are incorporated into a funeral service.

The style of funeral is your choice and we will assist in every way possible to meet your needs.

DVD Production

The capacity to celebrate the individual may also be something that you wish to share with people who may not have been able to attend a funeral.

Multiple copies of the Service Recording DVD or Life Story Photo Presentation DVD's are easily produced at Gippsland Funeral Services via our state of the art robotic DVD duplicator and printer. This duplicator creates quick and simple multiple copies to distribute to family members and friends. It also enables options such as providing a copy of the Life Story Photo Presentation to mourners attending a funeral, at modest cost but with a personalised finish.
